

A Prayer During Times of Tempermental Technology

God of New Means and Pathways,
You've created online routes to communications
And minds who made the screens.
For all of the technology we possess,
We give much thanks.

But when the computer crashes and freezes,
And we keep asking over and over again
"Are you there?"
Frustration builds.

My God, My God, why has technology forsaken me?

We live in a human world with imperfect tools.
For the tools we have, we share our gratitude, God,
For the moments they work, we give our thanks.

For the times when technology tumbles,
Forgive our groans... our screams...our cursing.
Give us patience, Holy One.

Amen.

Prayers for Synod written by Rev. Michelle L. Torigian