

more

by Karen Georgia Thompson

more than we can see we are height, breadth, depth, answering the call to reconnect to Source
we are spirit.

we anchor ourselves with the deep wisdom of prairie grass roots unseen extending long and deep what we see surpassed by the unseen nurtured underground.

roots running deep
as we stretch ourselves reaching high into vast skies moving deeper into the unknown answering the longing of our souls.

we are many manifestations products of Divine grace our souls pressing into the deep wresting our existence from the mundane.

deep as the waters of the sea we flow freely into the Mystery darkness and light calling shaping our being beyond the ripples and waves we see.

the Divine beckons begging us to reconnect to center ourselves to grow into that which is greater than we are.
